Challenges to the Gateway

- and how they can be overcome

John Stone

17th September 2009

Collaboration – a big ask

- Machinery of Government
- Who plans?
  - Areas, Sectors, Providers
- RCLA
- Curriculum Change
  - FLT, Functional Skills etc..
- Diploma Entitlement

It ain't easy

- Divided by a common history
- Commercial Pressures
  - Wasteful Collaboration
  - Accountability and delivery
  - Conflicting targets
- Its management that get things done

Emphasise the positive

- Independent Corporations
  - Publicly Funded
  - Public Sector Values
  - Public Value
- Engagement and Success
- Not all partnerships are good
  - Characteristics of success

Effective Partnerships

- Identify a project leader.
- Agree an action plan, with early deadlines.
- Set firm dates for completing each stage – establish a 'no excuses' culture
- Identify a communications manager and point of contact in each Line of Learning
- Establish high-level employer engagement

Success by design

- Identify ‘champions’
- Involve Higher Education
- Build quality assurance into the development process
- Build information, advice and guidance (IAG) into the planning process.
- Start planning and understanding the impact of a ‘demand-led’ service
