Why you must attend this event:

- Hear from Andrew Stunell OBE MP on the Government's Gypsy and Traveller policy and guidance and establish 'what's next' for the delivery of services to this community
- Understand, with the help of Dr Nicola Higgins and Caroline Cormack, recent policy developments including The New Tenancy Agreement, The National Planning Policy Framework and an update of HCA's traveller pitch funding
- Explore how recent media coverage may have harmed the image of the Gypsy and Traveller community and how to readdress the negative image locally
- Hear from the Gypsy community on how services can be improved, including access to services, engagement and conflict resolution
- Hear from a panel of experts what lessons can be learned from recent events at Dale Farm

The planned introduction of the National Planning Policy Framework, the loosening and localising of planning controls and heightened media interest has provided the sector with the opportunity to look to new and better ways to deliver services for the Gypsy and Traveller community.

Important issues such as health, education, access to employment and race equality remain key to realising the unlocked potential within Gypsy and Traveller communities. Figures by the Equality and Human Rights Commission indicate a life expectancy 10 years lower than the national average, with similar inequality found amongst health and education outcomes. Understanding the barriers faced by Gypsy and Traveller communities is key to improving life outcomes and tackling ongoing inequality.

As well as looking at the impact of the Localism Act, other legislation and new policies, delegates will have the opportunity to hear best practice examples on tackling stereotypes, dealing with conflict and engaging with Gypsy and Traveller communities to deliver vital services. Now in its 10th year, this is the national conference for all those working in Gypsy and Traveller services to explore emerging trends, hear the latest policy and share best practice.
