How Government-Government partnerships could facilitate access to opportunities in India and China

Nick Rousseau

Department for Business Innovation and Skills

England

United Kingdom

BIS | Department for Business Innovation & Skills

India - Context

- Indian Government's Skills ambitions
- General approach in India
- National Skills Development Corporation
- Existing activity – FCO, BC, UKTI and UKIBC/UKISF

BIS | Department for Business Innovation & Skills

UKIERI – Four Strands

- Strand 1: Leadership Development
- Strand 2: Innovation Partnerships between universities and colleges
- Strand 3: Skills Development
- Strand 4: Enhancing Mobility

BIS | Department for Business Innovation & Skills

Skills Strand

- Setting up Pipelines
- Capacity Building for Indian Vocational Education schools and institutions
- Engagement and Research

BIS | Department for Business Innovation & Skills

China - Potential Partnership Aims

- Support UK-Chinese Governments' TVET policy development
- Agree areas where TVET policy and structures can become closer to facilitate partnerships and mutually beneficial enterprise
- Strengthen and increase vocational education and training delivery
- Increase sustainability of existing institutional partnerships and use these to create new ones
- Increase global awareness of TVET students
- Growth in UK-Chinese business activity and trade facilitated by agreements on skills

- Trawl…

BIS | Department for Business Innovation & Skills

Potential Partnership Activity

- High Level Policy Dialogue
- A communications strand
- Work to expand recognition
- China to include the UK in its programme of national overseas training programmes for College Principals
- A number of practical projects on the ground

For Further Information

Nick Rousseau

Further Education Policy
Further Education and Skills Investment Directorate
Department for Business, Innovation and Skills
2 St Paul's Place, 125 Norfolk Street, Sheffield, S1 2FJ
+44 114 207 5253
nick.rousseau@bis.gsi.gov.uk

www.bis.gsi.gov.uk

BIS | Department for Business Innovation & Skills